

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE
DEPARTMENT OF VETERINARY MEDICINE

CLINICAL VETERINARIAN IN CLINICAL PATHOLOGY

Salary scale: £37,756 - £47,787

Limit of Tenure: 3 years in first instance

Applications are invited for an experienced Veterinary Clinical Pathologist to join the diagnostic laboratory service of the Queen's Veterinary School Hospital from 1 September 2014. The person appointed will be a key player in the provision of clinical pathology services to the Department of Veterinary Medicine, its associated clinics, ambulatory services, University and external clients. The role also encompasses participation in the practical instruction of veterinary students, the training of the Senior Clinical Training Scholars, and management of the clinical pathology laboratory and its staff.

The successful applicant will benefit from the wide-ranging facilities within the Department, including a strong team of support staff.

Applicants should hold Membership of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons or a veterinary degree conferring eligibility for membership; and should have a Diploma of the American or European College of Veterinary Clinical Pathology, or have completed an approved training programme conferring eligibility to sit the Diploma examinations.

The following are essential: at least 36 months' experience in diagnostic clinical pathology with all the common domestic species; experience in laboratory instrumentation and QC and QA procedures; proven ability to provide an accurate and timely clinical pathology service; an understanding of the requirements of animal hospital work; excellent organisational skills; ability to organise own time and workload.

The following are desirable: experience in managing the day-to-day running of a clinical pathology service and staff; experience in clinical pathology of laboratory animal species; some clinical veterinary undergraduate teaching experience.

Informal enquiries: Dr Fernando Constantino-Casas (University Pathologist): 01223 337640, fc307@cam.ac.uk ; or Dr Joy Archer (Senior Lecturer Clinical Pathology) 01223 337635, ja331@cam.ac.uk.
